

AGA KHAN FOUNDATION CANADA

University and College Seminar Series (UCSS)

Investing in Quality Education at All Levels

Aga Khan Foundation Canada (AKFC) is pleased to announce that it will be holding its annual University and College Seminar Series (UCSS) at nine universities and colleges across Canada between November 1st and November 15th, 2007. The seminar will be held at the following universities and colleges:

University of Ottawa	Friday, November 2 nd , 2007
Dalhousie University	Monday, November 5 th , 2007
McGill University	Tuesday, November 6 th , 2007
HEC Montreal	Wednesday, November 7 th , 2007
University of Waterloo	Thursday, November 8 th , 2007
Seneca College	Friday, November 9 th , 2007
University of Toronto	Monday, November 12 th , 2007
University of Calgary	Tuesday, November 13 th , 2007
University of British Columbia	Thursday, November 15 th , 2007

Ms. Mahmuda Akhter, Head of the Early Childhood Education Resource Centre at BRAC's Institute for Educational Development, Bangladesh, and Ms Safida Begum, Professional Development Advisor for Aga Khan Foundation, Afghanistan, will discuss the role of education at all levels – from early childhood to post-secondary to professional development - in facilitating the development process.

The presentations will be followed by case studies and a plenary discussion. The three-hour seminar will also include information on career opportunities for students. Former participants in AKFC's International Development Management (IDM) and International Microfinance and Microenterprise (IMM) internship programs, which offer two dozen internships each year to Canadian youth interested in getting involved in international development, will discuss their experiences with the internship program and provide tips for the application process.

For more information about timing, location and registration please refer to the AKFC website at www.akfc.ca. Refreshments will be provided. Space is limited so register now!